Age 10-11 Activity 1 – The owner that broke the law

Headlines should be imaginative and capture the reader. They should be short and just one line in length.

Sub headings should entice the reader to carry on reading, can be slightly longer.

Text – the text of the front page should be interesting and informative. The whole story should cover one page only so they may need to do a practice run to make sure they can fit it all in.

Picture blocks – these should be drawings, sketches or photographs to add pictorial detail to the story – they could have a caption below to explain what the picture is covering.

Comments/statements – these can be included and should include the name and job title (if applicable).

Age 10-11 Activity 2 – Roles and responsibilities
